Said In Cypress

— B K —

That the Cypress elementary school girl scouts were selling their cookies this week. We hope you all had an opportunity to buy at least one box of them. By this time the girls are probably "fresh out" because, in some ways, they are better than "not cakes" and sell as fast.

That Billy Chapman got out of one job and into another in a flash. Kind of a jump from airplanes to hospital work, but Billy took it in his stride. Chapman's mother made inquiry of the personnel director at the county hospital. This was as timely as it was a coincidence that the woman interviewed originally came from Mrs. Chapman's home town, Akron, Ohio.

That we consider it a great coincidence personally to learn that our brother, Dale, a student at Iowa State college happened to give a courtesy hit to an Iowa U student on a snowy day back home recently. The young man remarked that his two brothers lived about twenty-five miles east of Los Angeles. Knowing the whereabouts of only two towns in southern California, Dale asked if it were near Cypress. Confession revealed the youth to be a brother to the two Langlan boys who are currently guests of their good friend Rick Townswick, and all of whom originally came from Story county, Iowa. The brothers are operating a garage in a neighboring town and will move their families here as soon as suitable living quarters can be found.

That veteran fisherman 'Barney" Barnhart went fishing last week-end in Newport bay. It is said they were not biting for anyone else, but we heard it from Barney's own lips, that he caught perch from a pound and one-half to five pounds in weight. The only other part of our shorthand notes which we can now read says, "And this is no fish story."

———

That in the box in which Mrs. Pugh places reams of writen material received each week, and which we are forced to open and read just in case a thousand dollar check might drop out, we came face to face with a printed insult against our loyal "yellow demon." The heading said, "Ghost cars drain U. S. fuel supply." This caption caught our eye, together with the statement that California alone has 1,295,000. But this was the final slap, "at the present rate of production, it will be another five years before the automotive industry will have caught up with the majority of junk-yard fugitives" and so on and so forth. How do you like that. We don't know whether to laugh or sue!

Water Election Is Postponed

A special message from Dion L. Gardner, secretary of the Orange county water district, received by this newspaper stated that the special assessment election was postponed to a later date.

The election last Tuesday would have asked property owners to assess themselves 10 cents per $100 of their property valuation with which to buy approximately 20,000 acre feet of water through Metropolitan Water district.

Boy Scout Program Directed By VFW Post No. 9847 Gains Interest

If Cypress residents are on the downtown streets at any time on a Monday evening, they need not be astonished if they observe two boys jog-trotting, followed in a matter of fifty paces by two men in VFW caps who are laboring to keep up the pace set by the youths.

Since post No. 9847 of the VFW has taken over sponsorship of the boy scouts in Cypress, a great deal of enthusiasm is being shown by both the boys and the post members. Committee members from the post have been functioning in their duties in an exemplary manner ever since organization.

The main topic during the recent business session of the post was regarding the scout activities. Under the leadership of scout master Jack Kepner, the boys have been meeting every Monday evening from 7:30 to nine o'clock. The meetings start promptly and are dismissed at nine sharp. This gives the boys ample time to arrive at their homes shortly afterwards, and they are expected to go there directly following dismissal.

Interested fathers and mothers and members of the post are welcome at any of the meetings. At the present time the group is engaged in observation tests involving memory work.

Chairman of the VFW post No. 9847 scout committee is John Sutphin; treasurer; Ted Priddy; assistant scout leader, Earl Luty; and Frank Buzzo, Jack Spiker and Carl Markel. Scout members are James Hedgecock, Leon Taylor Charles Biggs, Jr., Norman Adams, Doye Lee Kemp, Charles Bell, Durling McKenzie, Kenneth Van Dyke, Ken Schilling, Charles Chambers, Richard Kavlin, Michael Troop, Wade Martin, Robert Van Dyke, Ross Master, Robert and Martin Boster and Ronald Garrison.

According to publicity chairman Carl Markel, the post will begin its preparations for a celebration on May 28 at the Cypress elementary school building by distributing posters and material to the members. A free show is planned in the auditorium, and a television set will be given away. This is on display at the Cypress hardware store.

The post is always open to new members eligible to join the VFW. At the second meeting this month, nomination of officers for the coming year will be held.

Dr. de Haas, who was born in the Netherlands, received his Ph.D. from Stanford University. For 20 years he was professor of international relations at the Graduate School of Business Administration of Harvard University.

In addition to his teaching, he has been active on government commissions. He is the author of five books and numerous magazine articles dealing with international relations and foreign trade. He is now completing a lecture tour in which he spoke before audiences in Rotterdam, London and major cities throughout the United States.

Hospital Trip Is Made By Local Group

On January 27, a committee from the VFW in Cypress, made a trip to the hospital ward which it has "adopted" in a nearby V.A. center.

The names and birthdays of the thirty-six men who are occupants of the ward were obtained, and at the appropriate time each will receive a card of greeting.

The members distributed stationery, candy, postage stamps, cigarettes and cup cakes which were donated. The chairman of the hospital committee, Ann Lucas, observes that the wants of these men are few, but their needs are many.

Also making the visit were Della Priddy, Hazel Luty, and Louise Neary. Sergeant Ray Lucas, of the local VFW post, furnished transportation. He was duly thanked for his cooperation by the committee.

Radio Request Brings Radio To Blind Boy

Lloyd Styles is a blind boy who lives on Western avenue south of Buena Park. He wanted a radio of his own so that he could listen to the programs of his choosing and people his dark world with the multitude of voices riding the air waves .

One of Lloyd's favorite characters was the Squeekin' Deacon', whose program on KLAC he listened to whenever he got a chance. He thought maybe the "Deacon" would help him get a radio so he dictated a letter to be written in his behalf by his mother and mailed it on its way.

By way of coincidence, Mrs. J. D. White, Buena Park, happened to be in the audience at the radio broadcast when the letter was read. Mrs. White felt she would like to help such a deserving young person and got the shock of her life when the letter was finished and the address, Buena Park was read. Then and there, she vowed to get a radio for the young man, even writing him a card to tell him so before she actually had one to offer.

It was no trick at all to call on a few friends and neighbors with the story and collect money for the cause, for all who heard were anxious to help. In no time at all, Mrs. White had enough money and even a few dollars over so she bought the small, table model radio, put the balance of the money in an envelope and gave them both to Lloyd.

Mrs. White has been more than repaid by the gratitude of the blind boy she helped, and those who helped her are all sharing the pleasant feeling they know when they have done a good turn for another. Lloyd is enjoying his radio more than most of us who can see can even imagine, and no doubt the "Squeekin' Deacon feels he too, has done his part in bringing the need to the attention of the community.

Install Officers of Hawaiian Gardens Men's Group

Completion of the community sponsored fire department building at 3227 south Norwalk boulevard has been given top priority in the list of community projects as new officers in Hawaiian Gardens assume office in the businessmen's club.

Cliff Scherrer prominent local business man has been renamed president to guide the civic group for another year. Scherrer is also a director of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce.John P. Stuckes has been named vice president, replacing Joseph H. Sadler.

Terms of C. Robert Lee, treasurer, and Herman E. Cloninger, secretary, did not expire this year.

Last July the businessmen broke ground for the new fire station which is being built with volunteer labor and funds raised by a series of community events.

Stuckes, architect of the building, said it was designed to meet the needs of the area for several yars. When completed the building will be turned over to the Los Angeles County Fire Department and will be manned by volunteer firemen.

Baby Daughter In Tillema Home Here

Mr. and Mrs. K. D. Tillema, 4882 Lincoln avenue, are the parents of a daughter born at seven o'clock Wednesday morning in Community hospital, Long Beach. The young miss weighed seven pounds, 12 ounces. No name had been chosen for the new addition to the family when "papa" Tillema was interviewed.

The baby has four brothers and two sisters. Tillema operates the Central Feed store on Lincoln avene and the family has lived in or near Cypress for a good many years.

MAKE PLANS FOR BUENA PARK DAY

May fourteenth has been set as the Saturday when the merchants division of the Buena Park chamber of commerce plans to sponsor the third annual "Hometown day."

In order to find a theme for this year's celebration, a contest is being considered. The winner would be given special recognition, probably in the parade.

Willis Warner (seated) chairman of the Orange County Sanitation district board, points out to Herbert F. Kenny, chairman of the Orange County Citizens Committee details of the sanitation report submitted by county engineers. On February 28, voters of Orange County will vote on the proposed sewage joint outfall line, necessary to care for the tremendous increase in population in Orange County since pre-war years. Kenny was present at the last meeting of the local chamber of commerce and gave an outline of program being undertaken in the interests of adequate sanitation for west Orange county.

VFW Auxiliary to Sponsor Local Blanket Club

Members of the auxiliary to VFW post No. 9847 enjoyed a meeting January 20 in the home of Margaret Dye.

An explanation was made by Ann Lucas of the blanket club which the group expects to sponsor, proceeds from which will benefit the treasury. Mrs. Lucas's "pep" talk was to encourage the increase of the sale of memberships in the club.

A cake was donated by Frances DeMeris, who used the "secret recipe" which the organization is selling. All the members sampled the refreshment, and Hostess Dye furnished the coffee during the social hour which followed the meeting. All contributions for the cake and recipe are added to the fund to be given to the cancer society.

Louise Neary, a member of the auxiliary to Newton post No. 167 in Southbury, Connecticut, was a guest at the meetings.

Teen-Agers Organize Program Of Youth Activities At Meeting Tuesday

An enthusiastic group of teen-agers met in the school cafeteria last Tuesday evening, forming the nucleous for what they hope will develop into the organization of a teen-age canteen for Cypress. Led by Herbert Mandel, who heads up a similar organization in Artesia for the Lion's club, and assisted by Jim Allgood, an instructor in the Artesia schools who is responsible for the low-teen group in that city for the Lions club, the boys and girls present carried on their own discussions and made their own decisions.

The meeting was announced as a mass meeting, open not only to teen-agers but parents and adults in the community as well, who were interested in the development of a teen-age canteen for the youth of this area. An appreciable number were present for the session, and among them were two representatives of the Cypress elementary school board, Dan T. Mackay, secretary and A. E. Arnold, president. Stan Doerr represented the local chamber of commerce in its youth activities' committee program.

After considerable discussion as to what limits of age should determine a "teen-ager", the consensus of the boys and girls themselves was that the large group should be divided into "low-teens" and "high-teens", the first to include seventh and eighth graders and the latter to be organized around the high school group.

The officers already chosen were augmented by the election of Russell Noe as public relations officer, Pat Sheador, sergeant-at arms, and Carol Dewell and Marian Simmons, reporters. These officers form the high-teen group together with president Monte Ziebell and vice-president Shirley Boudreau, elected by the low-teen group, form a board of governors for the canteen.

A recreation council must be formed by an adult group to be responsible for the youth activities, before members of the school board will give their full consent to the use of the school building for the "teen-canteen" projects. It was explained by chairman Mandel that members could be chosen to represent each of the organizations in Cypress, civic or social, and could be spear-headed by the representative already chosen by the local chamber of commerce. This group would be responsible for chaperones and be the advisory committee to the young people in their program.

Chairman Mandel advised the teen-agers in a 'straight from the shoulder" manner and explained how their organization could be a success or failure, depending on their actions and the way they themselves conducted their activities.

Secretary Mackay explained the position of members of the school board by a presentation of the many facets of the school laws which school boards must follow.

Another meeting has been tentatively set for February fifteenth, at which time the officers of the teen-age canteen hope that they will gain the necessary support from the local organizations to form a recreation council, and at which time announcement can be made of the first school activities to take place for the two groups.

County Firemen Enjoy Meeting In New Station

The Orange county firemen's association were guests of the local volunteer fire association in a meeting held in the new fire station. The guests were served coffee and doughnuts, served from the well equipped kitchen following the meeting.

Of great interest to the members was a discussion of legislation which is pending, which will aid the volunteer fireman. Ralph Plotkins, president of the California state firemen's association, explained provisions of three bills which would protect the interests of those engaged in fire-fighting who work on a volunteer basis. One would allow for the payment of a death benefit of $6000 to survivors if fireman is killed or $40 per week if injured while on duty; another would protect minors impressed into service during an emergency, and give them the same kind of protection which adults are given; and the third would allow a volunteer to pick up injured persons and take them to the hospital without waiting for the arrival of a state officer.

Other guests present were Don Smith, secretary of the state association, Paul Chase, southern district and Bill Verbeck, representing the California fireman's magazine committee.

On the table were vases of lovely red rosebuds, gaily tied with ribbons of pink and green, the lodge colors. Speaking for those present, Christa Christian thanked the hostess for having served her term well, and expressed the appreciation of the group in being entertained by the special occasion. To show their gratitude, the guests sang "For she's a jolly good fellow."

JUST A MATCH

Take a look at a match. It's a cheap, necessary, and innocent looking little article. Yet matches have caused the destruction of hundreds of millions of dollars worth of property and tens of thousands of lives.

The same thing is true of cigarettes. Great forests, homes, factories — all have gone up in smoke and flame because people didn't go to the small trouble of putting smoking materials completely out when discarding them.

How about the cords that carry the juice to your lamps? Their cost is small and they can be installed in a matter of minutes. Yet, easy as it is to replace them when frayed, short-circuits also have a gigantic toll of destruction to life and property to their credit.

These three examples show the main causes of fire —and the ease with which such fires can be prevented. The vast majority of fires are the result of one thing only — the human factor. Someone is lazy. Someone is careless. Someone puts off till tomorrow what should be done today. Then fire strikes. The loss may be great or it may be small. In either case, it is totally unnecessary. Keep that in mind when smoking, when checking household equipment, or when doing anything that has a bearing on fire hazards.

100 THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT COMMUNISM--EDUCATION

13. How about my own church-going?

You could try on your owr time, if the government happened at the time to let you off work on a holy day. Otherwise, only at night, when and if you got the chance.

14. Would I be allowed time off for religious holiday and celebrations as now?

Not a chance.

15. Could I help out with church charities and welfare work?

There wouldn't be any. All church schools, hospitals, orphanages, asylums, and such things would be seized by the government. Religion would be denied and any say in their use or management.

16. What about missionary work?

Illegal. Forbidden.

17. Could we print the sermons, church notes or news letters?

Certainly not. Only atheistic views could be distributed and, of those, only such as the government would hand out in official form. Under Communism you wouldn't even be free to peddle your own brand of atheism — just the government's

18. How about my church men's club, ladies' aid society, or young people's group?

Out. There is no freedom of assembly under Communism.

19. What could my pastor do?

In the pulpit, he could lead the congregation in acts of faith and deliver sermons, with the Communists checking on every word.

Out of the pulpit, he would be an official target for abuse, ridicule, and scorn, under constant suspicion, and in danger of his life.

20. Why?

In him, the Communists would see a rival to their power over your mind, imagination and will. The faith your pastor teaches is Communism's deadliest enemy.

21. What do you mean by "faith?"

The sort of thing you find in the Ten Commandments and the Sermon on the Mount.

22. What is the COMMUNIST faith?

"Marxism-Leninism," as operated by Joseph Stalin.

23. What's all that?

A plan and method to rule the world.

The man who drew up the plan was Karl Marx, who lived from 1818 to 1883.

The man who put the plan into action in real life was Vladimir I. Ulyanov, alias Nikolai Lenin, who lived from 1870 to 1924, and led the world Communists to capture Russia in 1917-18.

The man who made the plan a world force was Josif Vissarionovich Djugushvili, alias Josif Stalin, now living and 67 years old, who followed Lenin in command of the world Communist conspiracy.

24. Why do you say "alaia Lenin" and "alias Stalin?"

Because those are not the real names of the men involved.

Remember, the present "Stalin" started out in life to destroy the government of his own country and rebuild it on Communist lines through bloody revolution, and that's how it was actually done.

He was against all law except Communist ideas as laid down by Karl Marx. He used the alias "Stalin" to hide his real identity, just as Ulyanov used "Lenin."

25. What was Marx' idea of a communist world?

That the world as we know it must be destroyed — religion, family, laws, rights, everything. Anybody opposing was to be destroyed, too.

Marx wanted a world in which people owned no property, took orders from the government without question, and let their family life — husbands, wives, parents, and children — be without religion, morals, or ideals as we know them.

26. What was his idea of morality and family?

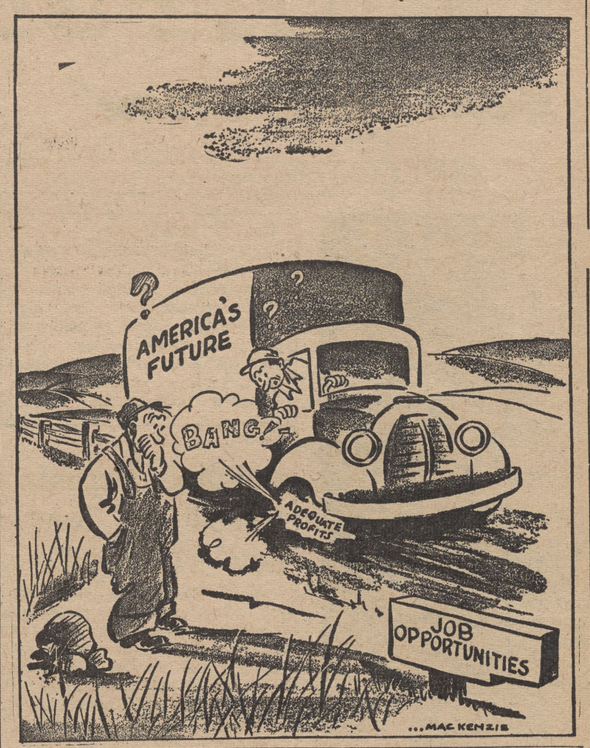
That anything is moral — even lying, stealing, and murder — if it brings on Communism.

That women shoud have children for the Communist state to educate, train, and use, but parents should not have any say in training according to their OWN ideas.

Marx had the idea that people could never be happy, have enough to eat, make enough money, or have success in the kind of world we know.

The U. S. A. is living proof that he was as wrong as a man can be.

OPEN ROAD FOR '49 By MACKENZIE



I RISE TO REMARK
By John Phillips

The new "Fair Deal" could be a little more careful in applying the principles which go with the name, to some of its own actions. There is a storm blowing here in Congress, behind the closed doors of committee rooms, over the dismissal of research staffs set up for the committee, under the Reorganization Act, and their replacement by patronage appointees, or by the return to the previous, unsatisfactory system of borrowing investigators.

If there was any action of the Congress which was non-partisan, it was the adoption of the Reorganization Act. I classed it, when I reported it to you the following summer, as one of the outstanding achievements of the Congress. It was put through by men from both parties, and during Democratic control of Congress.

One of its provisions called for research staffs, for major committees. Prior to that, committees had borrowed investigators from other agencies, or done without. You may well imagine that a man from one government agency was not going to investigate too rigorously, nor criticize too severely, another agency in the Washington bureaucratic maze; that is, not if he wanted to keep his job. The result: the departments and agencies, in presenting their cases, had committees at a disadvantage. We knew there was murder being done to the American taxpayer, but we couldn't find where the body was buried.

The Reorganization Act changed that. Men of real ability were brought to the Hill, on the assurance that they were safe from the "spoils system," and sudden dismissal. I have in mind a man of 12 years' experience with the Federal Trade Commission; or men from the FBI, or the outstanding, able group gathered by my own committee, Appropriations. We were able to get some only because of the protection they felt the Reorganization Act gave them. I have told you some of the results of their work.

These men have been fired by the "Fair Deal." Ours were dropped without notice by the chairman of the committee on Appropriations and when they asked if they might not have some "notice," or time to look for other jobs, they were told, "You got your notice on November 2."

The same Reorganization Act, which the Fair Deal has interpreted to give no protection to these men, also says that these research men may not take jobs from Federal agencies for a year after they leave the Hill. That was intended to prevent an agency from offering a job to an investigator who was getting to know too much about its duplications or extravagances. That is not unknown in Washington.

Perhaps we can correct this latter difficulty by Congressional action, but it is a poor patch on the hole torn in the morale of the research staffs. We will have great difficulty in re-creating them in the future. I regret particularly the loss of a staff of the caliber we were able to get together for th Committee on Appropriation. Some of them were partners or top flight executives of accounting firms in the East, serving without pay, because they considered it public service, and because the Reorganization Act had taken away the stigma of patronage.

In one committee, the situation was so obvious that Democratic and Republican members united to refuse approval of certain of the chairman's choices. The Majority on the Appropriations Committee was either better organized or better instructed; the Republicans weren't permitted to ask questions, let alone offer amendments.

CYPRESS PERSONALS

Henry Lucas, who has been a patient in the Anaheim community hospital for almost a month, was dismissed on Monday. He is recovering from a severe illness caused by pneumonia, and is recuperating in the home of his daughter, Mrs. E. L. McWilliams. When sufficiently well, he expects to return to work at the Los Alamitos sugar company, where he has been employed for many years as an engineer.

Mrs. Virginia Quast is visiting friends in Glendale. She expects to return home in a short time.

The baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Horton, 8781 Walker street, has been ill with bronchial pneumonia, but is recovering nicely. Sandra's maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Siples.

Rika J. Reatkirk, of 5662 east Camp street, was involved in a minor traffic accident Sunday evening when several autos collided at 10900 east Firestone boulevard, but suffered no serious injuries.

New residents at 5532 Vonnie Lane are the William Willeys, who moved here from Brea. They bought the home from Mr. and Mrs. George Loney, who have moved to the home of her mother, Mrs. Zinn, on Savannah street.

Mr. and Mrs. George Worthington, who formerly lived on Watson street, moved recently to 2745 La Rosa drive, in Temple City, where they will make their home.

Mrs. Earl Essex has been visiting in San Francisco and enjoying that city's opportunities for sightseeing. She arrived home Monday evening.

Lovely Dorothy Malone, talented new Hollywood starlet, wears an awning striped, two-piece cotton chambray sun dress for taking in the sunshine at a Western winter resort. Pretty Dorothy is currently being featured in Warner Bros. "Two Guys from Texas."

Infra-red film, used by the armed forces to pierce enemy camouflage, produced this unusual night-time effect in mid-afternoon. Photo, made by Noel Fehm, a college student, took an honor award in the Graflex Photo Contest. Many otherwise ordinary pictures can be made dramatic with infra-red film, which is very simple to use.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SUNDAY TOPIC "SPIRIT"

"Spirit" will be the Sunday lesson-sermon subject in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ ,Scientist, in Boston. The Golden Text is from I Corinthians: "What man knoweth the things of man, save the spirit of man which is in him? even so the things of God knoweth no man, but the Spirit of God."

In his first epistle Paul writes to the Corinthians, "Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man the things which God hath prepared for them that love him. But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God . . . But the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned."

Mary Baker Eddy says in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures:" "As mortals begin to understand Spirit ,they give up the belief that there is any true existance apart from God."

Nazarene Pastor To Give Farewell Sermon Sunday

The eleven o'clock Sunday morning worship service in the Nazarene Church in Cypress will be in the nature of a farewell since the Reverend Eric Jorden has been transferred to a new pastorate. He will use as his topic, "A task completed," taken from the text found in the book of John, 17:4. Special music is planned for the service by Gerald Berglund, and Mrs. Jorden will sing.

In the evening service next Sunday at 7:30 o'clock, Mrs. Jorden will speak to the congregation.

BEAUTIFUL GIFT

A new communion set was dedicated during the service on Sunday, January 23. A gift of Mrs. Guy Smith of Norwalk avenue in Artesia, the new set was used in the communion service held that morning. Mrs. Smith made her presentation in loving memory of her mother, Mrs. E. Moyle, who passed away in November, 1947. Mrs. Moyle was a member of the Cypress church for over twenty years.

HONOR MRS. JORDEN

The young women's missionary society held its meeting last Tuesday night in the social hall of the church. Mrs. Jorden presented the lesson from the book being studied by the group, "China crisis," which emphasized the work of the Nazarene church in China. Mrs. Bob Stearns led the devotionals, using the theme, "Setting a missionary program for ourselves."

During the business session which followed, Mrs. Jorden resigned as study chairman. Mrs. Norvil Chapman was elected in her place, and Mrs. J. T. Thrower replaced Mrs. Chapman as "Other Sheep" secretary. A contribution was made to box work in Africa.

Using the Valentine motif, Mrs. Charles Lenerville and Miss Etta Jean Bodkins were co-hostesses in the social hour which followed.

Following the refreshments, Mrs. Toab Wolford, president of the group, presented Mrs. Jorden with a sterling gravy ladle and sugar shell on behalf of the members, to show the appreciation of the society because of the help Mrs. Jorden has been to the group during her residence here.

Those present were Mesdames Wolford, Jorden, Henry Hart, J. T. Thrower, Charles Lenerville, Norvil Chapman, J. W. Fleetwood, Robert Stearns, Joe Ferguson, Hal Shirey, James Palmer, A. Kuykendall and Miss Bodkins.

The student body of Tustin Union high school recently voted to practice Christian democracy in a significant way. The Nadchenrealg Gymnassium school of Vienna was adopted by the student body. Letters and gifts have been exchanged.

DOWNRIGHT DELICIOUS

Glorify everyday meals with the juicy sweet goodness of California raisins. Versatile is the word for these plump, delicious little nuggets of energy and goodness. You will find they are incomparable for sugar-saving sweetness. They do delightful things for your plain as well as fancy cooking.

Breakfast, often the most neglected of meals, can be made doubly appealing by serving raisin bread toast or golden bran muffins studded with raisins. Add a handfull to hot oatmeal or wheat cereals for a change the family will welcome.

First courses main courses, desserts — all benefit marvelously from the deft addition of California raisins. Try them in salad and sandwich recipes — use them in pies, puddings, cakes — in meat stuffings and sauces. They combine tastily with almost any food.

RAISIN ROUGHS

½ C. shortening
¾ C. sugar
1 egg
1½ tbsp. hot water
½ tsp. soda
1½ C. flour (all-purpose)
½ tsp. cinnamon
¼ tsp. cloves
¼ tsp. nutmeg
½ tsp. salt
½ C. cocoanut
1 C. raisins
½ C. nutmeats

Cream sugar and fat, add beaten egg, and soda dissolved in hot water. Sift flour, measure and sift again with dry ingredients. Add a portion of the flour mixture to the batter, all the fruit and nuts, then the remaining flour. This makes a stiff dough. Drop from a teaspoon on a well-oiled sheet and bake for 15 minutes at 325° F. Do not overbake.

RAISIN BRAN MUFFINS
(Yield 6 large or ten small)

1 tbsp. molasses
1 tbsp. melted shortening
½ C. milk
1 egg, well beaten
1 C. bran
½ C. raisins
¾ C. sifted all-purpose flour
2 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt

Combine the molasses, shortening, milk and egg, mix with the bran. Let stand five minutes, add the raisins. Sift the flour, baking powder and salt and combine with the first mixture and stir just until flour is moistened. Bake in muffin tins for 20 to 25 minutes at 400° F.

CARROT-RAISIN MARMALADE
(Yield 2½ pints)

3 oranges
4 C. water
1 C. coarsely grated carrots
3 tbsp. lemon juice
4 C. sugar
1 C. seedless raisins

Peel oranges. Cut peel in very thin strips and cook in water until tender. Add carrots and boil for 10 minutes longer. Cut oranges into very small pieces and add to carrot mixture. Add other ingredients. Boil, stirring frequently, until jelly stage is reached (two drops come together and sheet from the side of a metal spoon). Pour into sterilized jars. Seal at once.

RAISIN OVEN DINNER
(Serves six)

6 medium sweet potatoes
salt
pepper
2 tbsp. grated orange peel
¼ C. brown sugar
½ C. raisins
1 lb. link pork sausage
½ C. water

Parboil sweet potatoes until almost tender. Drain and cool. Slice and put into a greased casserole in layers, sprinkling each layer with salt, pepper, orange peel, brown sugar and raisins. Brown meat in a skillet and pour off fat. Add water and simmer for 5 minutes. Place meat on potatoes and pour liquid over top. Bake covered in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 45 to 60 minutes.

BANBURY TARTS
(Eight)tarts)

1 C. seeded raisins, chopped
1 C. sugar
2 eggs, beaten
1 tbsp. soft bread crumbs
2 tbsp. lemon juice
2 tbsp. grated lemon rind
¼ C. walnuts, chopped
¼ tsp. salt
1 recipe rich pastry (2 C. flour)

Combine raisins, sugar, eggs, crumbs, juice, rind, nuts, and salt and mix well. Roll dough ⅛" thick and cut in eight 5" circles. Fit these rounds into 3" muffin pans, pinching into fluted rims at top. Fill with raisin mixture. Place cut-out pastry star on top of each tart. Sprinkle stars with red sugar, if desired. Bake in hot oven (400° F.) 30 to 40 minutes.

SCHOOL GROWS AT FAST PACE

Despite the additions to the school buildings which were finished this fall, the school attendance is growing at such a rate that more rooms are already needed. The classes have grown so rapaidly and become so large that the school building facilities are still inadequate. Miss Dickerson, district superintendent, states that nine new children were enrolled in the Cypress elementary school this week.

ANAHEIM UNION HIGH STUDENTS RAISE PIGS

Robert Van Dyke and Bill Teague, students at Anaheim union high school, are currently engaged in a project which they hope will result in their winning prizes later on. Members of the Future Farmers organization, the boys are currently engaged in a project involving two little pigs. They are about two weeks old and weigh almost ten pounds each, an increase of approximately eight pounds per pig since birth. The boys' method of providing nourishment to their hungry charges is by means of milk, fed by babies' bottles.

The progress of these porkers careers will be watched with interest by Robert and Bill's friends.

ORANGE COUNTY'S TEEN-AGERS ON TELEVISION

The schools of Orange county telecast their teen-age entertainers over K.T.S.L. on Saturday evening, January 29. Thirty-three youngsters, from eight of the county schools appeared in a show entitled, "Teen talent time." These students won the honor from thirty acts after a difficult elimination try-out at Anaheim Union high school held recently. There were eight "acts" in the performance.

The school officials in Orange county expect to learn much about the art of telecasting from this activity. Not only are the students gaining valuable experience, but the teachers are learning a great deal about this new vehicle of education. As more time becomes available for telecasting, educators see great possibilities in it for enriching the school curriculum.

School Board Hires Another Primary Teacher

The school board has announced that another teacher has been added to the staff. Because of the large number of children enrolled in the kindergarten classes, it was necessary to relieve Mrs. Clarissa Higgins, who was responsible for over-crowed classes in the mornings and afternoons.

Mrs. Evangeline Higginbotham comes to the Cypress teaching staff from her native Hawaiia. She has credentials from the University of Hawaiia and has taught kindergarten and primary grades in Honolulu. This is not her first trip to the mainland, since she has visited here two times previously. Her husband was transferred from the islands, and they have established their home in Santa Ana. She will teach the afternoon session of kindergarten, and Mrs. Higgins the morning session.

P-T.A. WILL OBSERVE FOUNDER'S DAY

The next meeting of the P-T.A. will be Thursday evening, February tenth. The group will observe "Founder's Day" at that time. Miss Turpin's third grade will be in charge of the school program.

It is believed that a novel program is being planned, and one that will be enjoyed. The officers and school officials hope that many Cypress residents will find it convenient to attend.

Girl Scouts To Donate Lovely Quilt

On display in the trophy case in the main hall of the school building is a beautiful handmade quilt. This was made by the girls who are members of Scout troop No. 13 of the Cypress elementary school, students in the seventh and eighth grades. The materials were furnished by the members, and each girl finished two blocks. All of the needlework involved was their handiwork. Mrs. Hazel Palmer is the group leader and Mrs. Joseph Odermatt is assistant.

The quilt will be donated for overseas relief, and will be included in a package to go over there, when presented to the Girl Scout counsellor at Anaheim,

CENTRALIA SCHOOL EXECUTIVE BOARD OF P-T.A. MEETS

Members of the executive board of the Centralia Parent-Teacher association met Thursday at the school to discuss plans for Founders' Day. It was decided to purchase three fast growing trees to be planted along the fence to provide shade and when the row of trees is completed will also serve as a wind break. In addtion to the tree planting service, several of the members will take part in a candlelighting ceremony. Past presidents will also be honored.

Mrs. Ed Maahs, who will have charge of the needle work booth of the bazaar, had a number of cuts of print goods to be given out to be made for the bazaar. It is hoped that members will have some article ready for the bazaar at each meeting instead of waiting until the last minute. It was decided to have a miscellaneous booth this year to replace the white elephant booth.

At noon a covered dish luncheon preceded the meeting.

APPOINT COMMITTEE FOR ALAMITOS GROUP FOR PROPOSED CHANGE

The Aguiar restaurant was opened for the first time to the Business association, last Thursday morning. The men acclaimed Louisa Aguiar as the cook of the week, so they must have enjoyed the breakfast. At the meeting a discussion took place regarding the possible joining of their association to the chamber of commerce as the merchant's division.

The matter was put in the hands of James Lynch, chamber president and Roy Wright, past president, then will be brought before the members of the chamber.

It was decided to hold the seccond annual fall festival in September, rather than in October as last year, in hopes of more favorable weather. Rain dampened the 1948 carnival. A committee is to be appointed at the February 24 meeting, also to be held at 6:30 a.m. in the new cafe.

COUNTY PLANS STREET WORK FOR LOS ALAMITOS

Plans and specifications for road improvement near the naval air station are being drawn by the county road department in preparation for calls for bids. The county is also planning to widen Central avenue, linking Brea and La Habra, in county territory and resurface the route in both county and city territory in La Habra. Estimated cost will be $112,000.

In Los Alamitos, the job outlined is the laying of a curb along Farquhar street from the naval air station at Lexington street to Los Alamitos boulevard at a cost of about $7500. Estimated cost of resurfacing the road is about $18,500.

Orange county is expected to pay the full cost of the improvement for Los Alamitos. Specifications are expected to be ready by February eighth so that bid call can be published immediately thereafter.

The Pattyn family now have "four of a kind." Another baby daughter became a member of the household. The bay was born at the Los Cerritos Materity hospital, and weighed eight pounds.

Centralia School's 4-H Club Group Visit and Observe

The Korn Huskers, 4-H club group of the Centralia school, were among those clubs which enjoyed a field day recently at the Planetarium in Griffith Park.

The first step was made in Glendale where the groups were shown around the Roger Jessup dairy. Bottling of the milk was demonstrated and each person who wished it was given a bottle of milk to drink.

The rainy weather prevented the planned picnic lunch, which was eaten in the cars. Between showers the zoo was visited. At the appointed time, all assembled in the planetarium where a very interesting lecture was given and the seasonal changes of the planets explained.

Korn Huskers attending were Linda and Barbara Galloway, Peggy Mills, Judy Belle Wicker, Judy Coan, Carlene Korn, Billy Marie Tidwell, Lowell and LeRoy Heitmen, Carl Dillon, Eddie Jahr, Stephen Stewart, Stephen Coffman, Floyd and Melvin Holland, Harold Tidwell and Ronnie Korn.

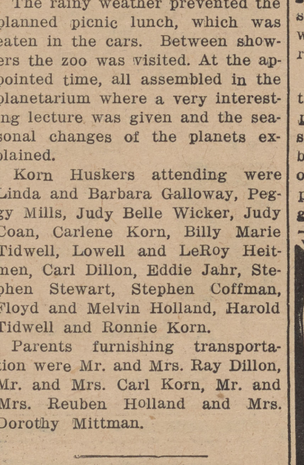
Parents furnishing transportation were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dillon, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Korn, Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Holland and Mrs. Dorothy Mittman.

DRIVING VISIBILITY

One out of five fatal traffic accidents occurs because of poor driving visibility, warns the Public Safety department of the National Automobile club. Rainy weather is here to blur your windshield and cloud the highway, so drive with special care and always keep your windshield clear.

Marion Precie is sojourning in Mexico City. He flew in a privately owned plane, and is expected back on Monday.

NEW DECORATING DESIGN



Fabric designers have begun to show new cotton fabrics for the homemaker's spring redecorating spree, which will soon be starting. Among the outstanding designs is this Antique Window pattern by Mallinson. It is a gay, colorful, modern print that will sparkle in kitchen, breakfast room, or dining room.

HONOR MRS. VANNIE WOODS STRICKLAND

Mrs. Vannie Woods Strickland was the happy "victim" of a surprise birthday party on Monday evening.

The popular manager of the kitchen at Knott's Berry Farm had been invited out to dinner by Mr. and Mrs. Knott. After getting Mr. Knott's mother, Mrs. Margaret Knott of Garden Grove, they drove to Dorothy and Wade's Cafe in Anaheim where 35 of Mrs. Strickland's co-workers were waiting to join in a birthday celebration. A corsage was presented to the celebrant, and a decorated cake was placed before her place.

After dinner the group adjourned to the Knott's home where the evening was spent visiting.

RONDELETIA

Plant this evergreen shrub in sandy loam, light shade.

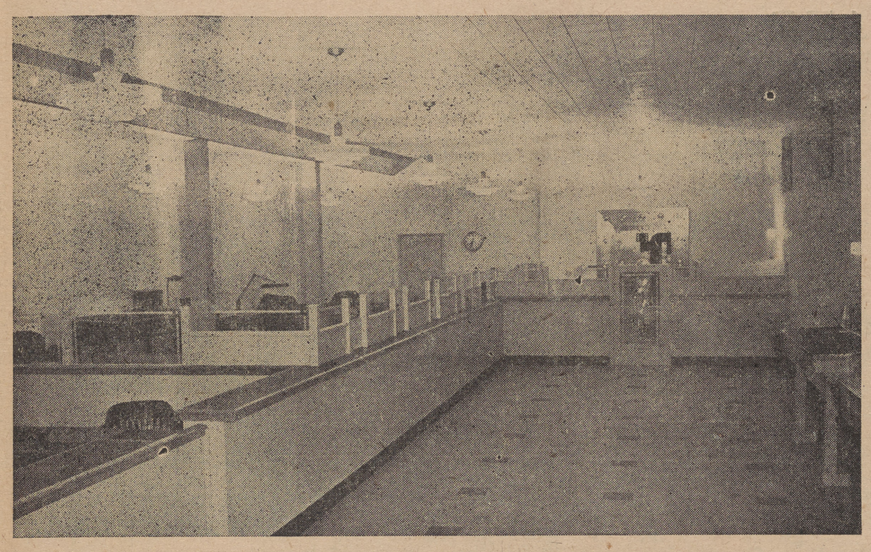
IN SPRING — along about April — the salmony-pink tubular buds of Rondeletia cordata open to show the lighter pink petals and yellow throats of thousands of little flowers in dense clusters.

The leaves are large, glossy, bright green, and heavily veined, three to five inches long. They give a permanent luxuriousness to the shrubbery border or patio.

Named in memory of William Rondelet, a French physician and naturalist of the sixteenth century, rondeletias are mostly native of Central and South America. They are easy to cultivate, but are rather slow-growing and therefore have not received the recognition they deserve. A full-grown shrub of R. cordata growing wild in Guatemala reaches a height of only about 7 feet. Under cultivation it will average from 4 to 6 feet when mature.

Rondeletia thrives best in sandy loam, but it growes and flowers satisfactorily in any good garden soil. It is sometimes described as tender, but it has proved hardy in most of our mild Western climates. Give it protection from severe cold in inland valleys. It can stand full sun, but appreciates some shade during the hottest part of the day. Plants in tubs will develop more rapidly if watered with liquid manure every third time water is applied. Be sure to give plenty of water, but withhold feeding fromt he time color shows in the buds until after the flowers have faded, as fertilizing tends to shorten the period of bloom. There are no particular diseases or insect pests which attack rondeletias in the garden, but mealybugs are sometimes troublesome on tubbed plants. Give the plants a good going - over with multi - purpose spray as a precautionary measure whenever you give the garden routine sprayings.

Few shrubs can serve so attractively as a filler in front of leggy plants or as a bold accent of smooth green leaves. Instead of being a drawback, the slow growth of rondeletia makes this shrub especially desirable for the small garden.



The modern, spacious interior of the new Buena Park offices of the Southern County Bank is shown in the photo above taken just before the doors were opened Saturday for a gala "open house" in order that the public and representatives of the banking profession might be taken on conducted tours. Refreshments were served to the guests by the American Legion Auxiliary. (Nelson Photo Shop)

Poet's Corner

(Editor's note: Our poets will look to their laurels. The following poem was "lifted" from the local school paper, "The globe" prepared and published under the direction of Mrs. Clyde Arnold.)

"TOM"

Tom is lazy, Tom is fat.
Tom is a no good cat.
When he's out all night
He returns a messy sight.
But he just wants a dish of cream
And a place to lie and dream.
And of course this he'll get.
After al lhe is our pet.
After all he is our pet.

A poem by Marna Bock, sixth grade.

Change In Navy Training Program At Los Alamitos

A very popular change in the training schedule for organized reservists at the Naval Air station, Los Alamitos, has been inaugurated. Prior to this time, officers and men of the Naval Air reserve have been required to attend two training periods on alternate Saturdays or Sundays each month. This has now been changed so that all personnel will now attend but one training period on one week end each month, and will still receive four full days' navy pay.

This change adds materially to the continuity of training and has proved extremely popular. Personnel may stay aboard the station Saturday night, and the crowds in the enlisted men's tap room and the bachelor officers' quarters on Saturday nights attest to the fact that the men are renewing old acquaintances and using this opportunity for a real old-fashioned get together.

Vacancies still exist in most all categories, but yeomen and radar men are especially wanted, and there are billets in the fighter squadrons for qualified naval aviators.
